Very large newly reformed townhouse in the centre of Yunquera, Andalucia, with shops, restaurants and bars and next to the church. The owner kept with care the character of the old building. The house consists of a large reception, sitting room with fire place, dining room, kitchen, tv room, office, and a possible other bedroom and outside patio. On the first floor are 3 bedrooms en suite and a large lounge. Second floor 3 more bedrooms en suite and a large covered terrace. On the roof is a large terrace with panoramical views to the village and the mountains. Ideal for a large family, B&B, training or retreat centre.

Yunquera is a White Village in the province of Malaga, Andalucia. Situated in the Mountains near Peñon de los Enamorados and El Tayo de la Caina in the Natural Reserve La Sierra de las Nieves, protected by the Unesco. Small village with a population of 3300, altitude of 298 meters, 21 km from Ronda, 61 km from Malaga and 45 minutes from Marbella and the sea. Possibly of Roman origin, although no remains are preserved, probably Christians, Visigoths settled in these areas before the Berber troops concurred Andalucia. In Roman times it was a passage of the legions in the conquest of Hispania passing of Malacca (Malaga) to the mountains of Ronda.
